COMMANDER'S EXAM

CYCLE 3, YEAR 2

ANSWERS

Question 1

Any legal or illegal substance that changes the body's mental or physical reactions is called a "drug."

True. Medicine, alcohol, and cigarettes are all examples of legal drugs that change the way the body or mind functions. There are also illegal drugs, like marijuana.

Question 2

If you "tell," you're just a tattletale.

False. There is a difference between telling someone about a problem in order to protect yourself or another person and tattling, which suggests that the tattler expects to receive something in return or is doing it to cause trouble for the person they are tattling on.

Question 3

Graffiti is just about having fun.

False. It's more than just having fun: graffiti "artists" want to attract attention to an idea, a design or a signature. Graffiti is a kind of vandalism and graffiti "artists" can be charged in court.

Question 4

Taxing victims don't tell on their aggressors because they are afraid or because they don't know taxing is a crime.

True. Taxing is robbery, and that means it's a crime. If you are taxed and you don't report it, you are more likely to be targeted again. It's important to break the wall of silence because it gives power to your attackers.

Question 5

Drinking coffee reduces the effects of alcohol.

False. There is no magic potion to prevent alcohol from getting into the blood stream. Eating before and while you drink will slow down the effects, but no matter what you do, if you drink too much, you'll get drunk!

Question 6

A street gang is a group of young trouble-makers who commit various crimes ranging from threats to murder.

True. The exact definition of a "street gang" is a group of individuals, usually teenagers and young adults, who use intimidating group force to routinely commit serious crimes and regularly engage in acts of violence (misdemeanours, theft, robbery, sexual assault, drug trafficking, homicide, etc.).

Question 7

You should protect your own and your friends' personal information by not sending it over the Internet.

True. If you or your friends want to sign up for an online contest or activity, you should ask for your parents' permission before completing the registration form. You should also read the website's privacy protection policy to make sure your personal information won't be sold or given to third parties.
